

If the bill passes it will lead to increased government regulation of technology and reduced fair use rights. Why punish the rest of us for the crimes of the few? Enacting and enforcing stricter laws for those that break the law, is a better alternative. What is the plan for the early adopters of the technology? Replace a $700 receiver? OR will the networks be required to replace the hardware that people have legally bought? I in no way want my Fair Use Rights, diminished. I am not a pirate, Every piece of software I have was legally purchased and is registered. Every DVD I own was legally purchased, as well as all my CDs and video games. Why should I have to replace the HDTV receiver, purchased 3 months ago, because of the misdeeds of the minority?
